FRUITWRAP

The economic solution to fruit tree establishment, the Tubex Fruitwrap provides reliable protection whilst improving the establishment of the plant.

The Tubex Fruitwrap is a twin-walled tube that has been split vertically, enabling it to wrap around a fruit tree and expand as the plant grows. With optimum light transmission the Fruitwrap enhances growth whilst protecting against animal browsing, herbicide sprays and accidental damage during mechanical weeding. Ideally suited for slender plants that have a dominant single stem, where the tube can simply be dropped over the tree and supported with a sturdy cane.

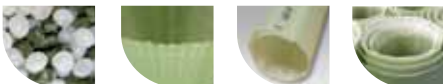

*Shelter longevity is dependent on site and weather conditions but is typically a minimum 3 years.
